

Thomas A. Johnson, Jr., MD

Weight Management

Education and Training:

Pre-medical:	Fairfield University	BS	1964
Medical:	St. Louis University	MD	1968
Internship:	Rhode Island Hospital
	Brown University		1968-1969
Residency:	University of Nebraska Medical Center		1972-1973
Relevant training	Duke Faculty Development Program		1982
	Duke University School of Medicine
	Basic and Advanced Lipid Management Courses
	Washington University School of Medicine		1995
	Nutrition and lifestyle classes at Mayo Clinic

Board Certification:

American Board of Family Medicine-1973
Recertification current
Certificate of Added Qualifications in Geriatric Medicine-1988
Recertification current

Professional Activities:

Member of American Academy of Family Physicians, Missouri Academy of Family Physicians and Society of Teachers of Family Medicine. Honors include: Diplomate-American Board of Family Medicine, Certificate of Added Qualifications in Geriatric Medicine, Fellow-American Academy of Family Physicians, Honorary Medical Staff, McCook Community Hospital, Honorary Medical Staff, St. John's Mercy Medical center, Alumnus of the Year - 1992 - The Department of Family, Practice, University of Nebraska Medical Center, Consultant in Family Medicine at Samara State University (Russia) School of Medicine (10/1995) at request of The U.S. Department of State, The Russian Government, and St. Louis University School of Medicine. Listed-Best Doctors in St. Louis and Best Doctors in America